Educator Workshop

Difficult Conversations: Come to the Table

Workshop presented by Facing History and Ourselves, international nonprofit professional development organization

Monday, April 16, 2018 4:30 – 8:00 pm

Purdue University, Lawson Hall 1142

The classroom should be a place where students learn to exchange ideas, listen respectfully to different points of view, try out ideas and positions, and give—and get—constructive feedback without fear or intimidation. Through engaging in difficult conversations, students gain critical thinking skills, empathy and tolerance, and a sense of civic responsibility.

About Facing History's mission: to engage students of diverse backgrounds in an examination of racism, prejudice, and antisemitism in order to promote the development of a more humane and informed citizenry. More information and resources at: <https://www.facinghistory.org/>

Registration will open in January 2018 through <http://glhrc.org/educators.html>
